Dear Hiring Manager,

I am applying for English teaching and training positions where exam results and professional communication matter. I hold the Cambridge CELTA and specialise in IELTS preparation, backed by 11 years working in fully English-speaking environments.

I do not only teach grammar. Having managed multilingual teams and handled VIP client relations in hospitality, I teach the operational English that workplaces actually use — meetings, negotiation, service, exam success. I adapt to the learner: a nurse, a hotel manager, and a student preparing for IELTS each need a different course, and I build each one.

My specialist tracks — Business, Hospitality, Aviation, and Medical English — match the demand I see across institutions and companies. The Cambridge CELTA also meets the quality standards recognised by training funders.

I would welcome the chance to discuss how I can contribute to your learners' progress.

Yours sincerely,

Sourov Deb
