

Procedure – Basic template for a 45 Minute Lesson, using a text (listening) to introduce Functional Language

Interactions and time	Stage and Aim	Procedure (each sub-stage is marked by a bullet point)	Teaching notes for each substage	Comments for the stage
5' (Mins) T-Cl S-S Cl-T	Lead-in/context setting – to engage Ss into the topic of the lesson and get them using English. Also to activate schemata for the text	- T (teacher) introduces the lesson topic eg. with a short story, pictures or even video to get Ss engaged. T then gives a simple but interesting question related to the topic of the lesson to discuss. This could be a prediction of the text the Ss will be reading later. - Ss discuss the topic in pairs while T monitors - T conducts plenary (whole class feedback) sharing one or two interesting ideas, involving all the group. These can go on the board to be referred to later.	- This needs to be set clearly with TT (teacher talk) graded or Ss will not know what to do and will not be engaged - Monitor but be careful not to intrude - Choose 1 or 2 Ss to give ideas, get Ss talking rather than the T. Don't overrun.	Many planning hours are wasted by too much focus on the lead-in. Deal with the main reading task first.
5' T-Cl S S-S Cl-T	Listening Task. (Gist or Specific Information!) – gist: to practice skimming; SI to practice scanning. Provides context for TL	- T sets the task. If gist, it can be a prediction based on the previous stage, or a simple closed question. If SI, then two or three questions will do. - Ss listen while the teacher monitors - Ss compare answers in pairs (threes). - Quick feedback getting the whole class to give the answer.	- Task needs to be set clearly. Checking is a good idea. If not it is too challenging. - Stay still at the front during the recording - Remember to include paircheck – it's important - Keep this quick and clear, DO NOT ask extra questions	This is a less challenging task for Ss to get an overall idea of the text and/or its main features. This sets a clear context for the TL (Target Language) to be taught
7' T-Cl S S-S	Language focus. Ss work the text to see the TL (Target Language in context	- T set a clear task. Demo/ example is a good idea. - Ss listen again noting use of TL in the text while they listen to it - Ss compare answers in pairs of threes. T prepares the board	- Use of clear materials often self-designed is very useful - T monitors and guides but does not give the answers. T can prepare the board ready for presentation	Ss writing whole phrases is challenging and time-consuming. Design a simple task such as circling the right option or ordering.
8' T-Cl	Presentation. To clarify MFPR for the TL (meaning, form, phonology, register)	- T puts the TL on the board involving the Ss. - T clarifies meaning for the functions as a whole or items as needed. - For each function T gives clear oral model and drill and on the board analyses form and phonology. Remember intonation and register!	Remember to elicit not just write everything up, getting all the Ss to respond. Include Individual as well as choral drill, and involve Ss (through questions) while putting analysis on the board.	Prepare and practice this a lot before the lesson. Have a copy of the board work ready. For a functional language lesson, teach 6 to 8 items; less is not enough, more is too much.
20" T-Cl S T-Cl S-S-(S) S-Cl (S-S) (S-Cl)	Freer Practice :Role-Play. For Ss to use the TL in a more authentic and personalised way. Also for Ss to receive FB on this.	- Set the task, assigning roles if needed. T - Ss read so that they understand what to do. T monitors and supports - T does a demo with a stronger student. After this FB is needed, praise and feedback on what could be improved. - Ss carry out role-play. T monitors and supports - Get Ss in an open pair. They act out the role-play. FB as with demo (if time, repeat the two previous stages, changing partners/roles)	- Materials must be clear. - Support is crucial - This gives a clear model and also provides FB - Support and keep Ss active, watch timing - FB is crucial on positives and areas to work on - This is ideal as it gives extra practice.	This should be set in as an authentic a way as possible. Get Ss moving positions. It is very important to have FB on TL, both positives and areas to work on. Often this will be with pronunciation so extra drilling is needed.
